Right now we’re so aware of connections.

Mainly two kinds.

The virtual web of light... that lets us see and speak to our loved ones, and the local network of infrastructure and kindness.

People so happy to help their neighbours,

Can we keep these connections alive?

Workers we maybe didn’t appreciate enough before.

Were we so close, all along, and didn’t see it?

When all this is over?

It’s in our hands.
